

DEAD AND BREAKFAST

"PILOT"

Written by

Zephyr Rich

4291 S Wander Lane
801-230-5350

INT. ADELAIDE'S BEDROOM - NIGHT

The room is huge, with a large wooden bed in the center. There is a vanity, mirrors, and a dresser, but nothing is on the walls, and there are no real decorations.

A sudden, loud crashing noise is heard from off screen. An older woman wearing a nightgown quickly sits up from her bed. She angrily gets up and approaches a shotgun hanging proudly on the wall. The woman takes it down in a rush and heads down a set of stairs next to the wall that had the gun.

INT. MOTEL LOBBY - NIGHT

The lobby is pretty small, only having enough space to barely move around a couple chairs and get to a desk with keys to each room behind it.

A zombie is stumbling around the room, knocking chairs over and moving slowly.

The older woman comes down from the steps, faces the zombie, and aims her shotgun.

INT. CAMILLE'S BEDROOM - NIGHT

The room is brightly lit, with a lot of pink and fuzzy decorations. Posters and pieces of paper cover the walls.

A younger woman sits at a desk in a gamer chair, writing in a notebook. On the desk, there are a lot of electronic instruments. The woman is listening to club music in her headphones, which is barely heard coming from them.

Gunshots go off in the background, startling the young woman. She looks up for a second, before quickly calming down and rolling her eyes at the noise. She continues to write in her notebook, while gunshots go off and screaming is heard in the background. This goes on for a few seconds before dying down, then silence.

After a few calm moments, the door to the room bursts open, and the older woman is standing in the frame. She is covered in zombie blood and still holding her shotgun.

OLDER WOMAN

(breathing heavily, with a southern accent)

C'mon now, you couldn't even have pretended to get your gun? You just sat there, making your...

She gestures demeaningly.

OLDER WOMAN (CONT'D)
Little noises?

The young woman stares at the older woman for a moment, waiting for something else to be said.

OLDER WOMAN (CONT'D)
Well, come on now Camille, help me get all this mess cleaned before the motel opens. I need to change clothes, too, I can't open up in my pajamas.

Camille, the younger woman, gets up with a huff and follows the older woman out of the room. The title of the show and episode appear in the room where the two women just left.

INT. MOTEL LOBBY - DAY

The lobby is cleaned now, but stained from the earlier fight.

A twenty-something man who looks like he hasn't showered since the beginning of the apocalypse walks in. He rings the bell on the counter and waits for a small moment, before ringing the bell a lot.

MAN
(impatiently)
Hello? Hello

The older woman from before rushing into the room, clearly annoyed by the ringing.

OLDER WOMAN
Alright, alright, Lord you don't have to ring the bell like it owes you

She heaves a big sigh

OLDER WOMAN (CONT'D)
What can I do for you?

MAN
My name's Andy.

OLDER WOMAN
... Hello, Andy. I'm Adelaide. How can-

ANDY
(Interrupting)
I need a place to stay for a bit.
Do you have a doctor nearby?

ADELAIDE
Oh yes, of course. Are you sick? Is that why you need a doctor?

ANDY
...Nope. Just checking.

A long pause between the two.

ADELAIDE
...Sounds good. I'll take you around and to your room.

EXT. MOTEL "HEART" - DAY

The "heart" of the motel is the area that all rooms face towards. There is a large, disgusting pool in the center, with green liquid and a dead zombie sitting in a folding chair on the bottom of the pool, below all the liquid. There is also a "No Running" sign next to the pool, but it has been scratched and altered to say "No Swimming".

Adelaide and Andy walk around it, and Andy glances in. His eyes widen, and he looks horrified. After that, he refuses to look anywhere near it again.

ADELAIDE
This'll be your room. Now, we got a few rules here. Number one: No music. You probably know already, but in case you're new, zombies love music.

ANDY (Smugly)
Oh, I know. Don't worry, I know.

ADELAIDE
Good. Rule number two: don't swim in-

Adelaide's phone starts to make an obnoxious alarm sound, and cuts her off.

ADELAIDE (CONT'D)
Oh lord. I gotta go, some nearby tourist group got stranded.
(MORE)

ADELAIDE (CONT'D)

If you need anything, Mikey should be able to help.

Adelaide runs off screen.

ANDY

Mikey?

A young child, Mikey, and a very scraggly old dog come into focus from the other side of the pool. Mikey is poking a stick into the green liquid, when a large bubble rises and pops, knocking Mikey to the ground.

ANDY (CONT'D)

Oh... great.

INT. OLD JEEP - DAY

Adelaide is driving the old car and Camille is in the passenger seat. Camille is texting, and Adelaide looks extremely uncomfortable in the silence.

ADELAIDE

So, where do you think the tourists came from this time?

CAMILLE

(not looking up)
I don't know, mom.

More silence. Camille puts on overhead headphones and starts playing loud electronic music in them. She continues to text. Adelaide looks annoyed.

ADELAIDE

Oh, so you'd rather listen to that noise than talk to your mother, now?

Camille looks confused, then takes off her headphones.

CAMILLE

We weren't even talking though?

ADELAIDE

You weren't even trying. Besides, you listen to that so loudly, I have to hear it too.

CAMILLE

(offended) What's wrong with my music? Do you hate it that much?

ADELAIDE
It's not music! It's a zombie magnet!

EXT. OLD JEEP - DAY

You can barely hear Adelaide and Camille arguing in the car as they drive along.

INT. SCIENCE LAB - DAY

The lab feels cold and is mostly open. There are desks on the walls, each covered in notes and test tubes. In the corner is a gaming set up.

Andy walks into the lab from the motel hall and starts looking around. He doesn't notice Mikey and the old dog, who are sitting at the gaming setup, staring at him.

Andy picks up a glass tube with a blue fluid, inspects it, and is about to drink it when Mikey interrupts.

MIKEY
Can I help you?

ANDY (Surprised) Oh.

Andy puts the tube down, and it falls over, spilling. Andy doesn't notice.

ANDY (CONT'D)
Yes, I'm looking for a doctor.

MIKEY
That would be me. How can I help?

ANDY
Are you... sure? I'm looking for someone who has a F.A.Z.C.

MIKEY
Yes, that would be-

ANDY
(Interrupting) That's Fast Acting Zombie Cure, if you didn't know.

MIKEY
(slightly pissed off)
Yes. I did know. Why do-

ANDY
Oh, smart kid.

A pause. Mikey is growing more annoyed,

MIKEY
(Dryly)
Do you need something?

ANDY
I already said, I need a doctor.

MIKEY
I am a doctor. I know about F.A.Z.C.-s, I'm the lead researcher on them in this area. What do you need?

ANDY (Satisfied)
Oh, nothing. I'll call you when I do.

Andy leaves the room, a small spring in his step.

MIKEY (turning toward the old dog)
That was lame.

The dog sticks it's tongue out. Mikey laughs a little and pets the dog on the head.

MIKEY (CONT'D)
Good boy, BeeBill.

EXT. DESERT CAVE - LATE DAY

The desert is deep red. A few large cave mouths lead to a deep and winding cave system.

Camille and Adelaide pull up in the jeep and get out. Neither of them say a word, but both are angry. Camille enters one cave opening and Adelaide goes into another.

INT. DESERT CAVE - LATE DAY

Camille looks around a damp and dripping red cave with a flashlight. She looks around, and flashes her light right at a group of scared, trembling tourists. They all flinch, and Camille chuckles slightly at their fear. She goes up to the group.

CAMILLE

Are you the group that sent the distress signal?

TOURIST MAN

(In a vaguely European/English accent)

Yes, but we are only a few of our group. Some of us got separated, in another opening of the cave.

Camille bends down and starts tending to a person's injuries.

CAMILLE

Don't worry, Adelaide has that area covered. What happened?

TOURIST MAN

Our tour guide, he had a dog whistle. Kept asking about our supplies and if we had a medic with us. When we finally said yes, he summoned the zombies with the whistle. He got bit, so we saved him. He then left our group to deal with the bunch alone. We gave a good fight, but had to hide in this cave.

CAMILLE

A tour guide? Usually those kinds of people stick north. Why'd you decide to take a tour down here?

TOURIST MAN

Cheap plane tickets, mostly. Just wanted to get out of the office life for a while, so I didn't think it would matter so much. And, Andy said that this place was a sight to see, didn't he.

CAMILLE

Hmm...

Camille pauses, and a horrified look comes across her face.

CAMILLE (CONT'D)

ANDY?!

EXT. MOTEL YARD - SUNDOWN

The sunset is making the scene very red, reflecting off of the red rocks. There is an empty fountain in front of the motel gate.

The old jeep pulls into the motel yard, stopping right before hitting the fountain. Camille and Adelaide run out, only to hear a loud dog whistle noise. They look at each other scared, as they hear BeeBill barking like crazy in the background. They rush into the motel.

INT. SCIENCE LAB - SUNDOWN

Mikey is yelling and freaking out at Andy, who is poorly trying to hide a dog whistle behind his back. Adelaide and Camille run into the room, both looking pissed. Camille starts approaching Andy, but stops when a low rumbling sounds starts. They look out the window to see a zombie hoard approaching.

ADELAIDE

(Annoyed and grimly)

We'll deal with all this later.

INT. MOTEL LOBBY - SUNDOWN

A zombie fight ensues. Adelaide shoot zombies with a shotgun. She has to reload, and a zombie approaches her. Right in time, Camille splits its skull with a woodcutter's ax. They look at each other for a moment.

CAMILLE

We good?

Adelaide smiles, and inhales to speak. As she says "yes", her collar is grabbed by BeeBill, and a zombie bites where she was a moment ago.

The fight scene continues. Adelaide shoots and Camille slashes, and BeeBill helps when needed, too.

The scene reaches it's climax. The music stops, and all seems lost due to the sheer number of zombies.

EXT. MOTEL ROOF - SUNSET.

Mikey climbs to the top of the motel. He pulls a pin from a grenade, which starts loudly playing Camille's dubstep music. He throws it far, and all the zombies pause to listen to it. They all follow the sound, and after they're all surrounding the grenade, it explodes, killing all the zombies. The fight is over.

INT. MOTEL LOBBY - NIGHT

The lobby is now much more stained, with zombie parts scattered around.

Adelaide, Camille, Mikey and even BeeBill all look relieved. Andy looks disappointed.

ANDY

Well, that was for nothing.

Everyone turns to him angrily. Just then, a leftover zombie comes up behind him and bites him on the shoulder. Everyone besides Andy panics, they kill the zombie quickly while Andy passes out smiles, and they rush him to the science lab.

INT. SCIENCE LAB - NIGHT

They all lay Andy on an examination table in the middle of the room.

CAMILLE

Do we even save him though? Letting him turn would at least make sure he never comes back here...

ADELAIDE

If God wants him dead, He'll kill him in the wasteland. Unfortunately, he's here, and we have all the tools to fix him up.

MIKEY

I wouldn't feel bad about letting him pass. I wouldn't feel too great about it, but then we could bury him and I could spend the rest of the day playing Barrio Barty.

ADELAIDE

(snapping at Mikey)
Just save the damn bastard.

Mikey shrugs, and injects Andy with a sparkly blue fluid. After a second, Andy's eyes bolt open, then relax.

ANDY

Yeah... that's what's good.

Andy turns to Mikey

ANDY (CONT'D)

Feels good, man.

Everyone stares at Andy, with varying mixes of horrified, confused, and angry.

ADELAIDE

You did all this to get your fix?
Are you kidding me?! Camille, would you take a look at this... at this junkie! What a shame.

MIKEY

(to Andy)

I hate you.

CAMILLE

You're such an asshole. You can't even be a stoner by yourself? You have to involve others, too? I mean, even I have to admit, it's a pretty good high, but-

Camille gasps and covers her mouth, realizing she just fucked up.

Adelaide turns toward Camille, looks her up and down, realizing she's used the cure to get high before.

ADELAIDE

You- you have to admit?!

Screen turns black, cutting off Adelaide's anger.

The end.